

THE POLITICAS OF FEAR

By Mohamed Bezzaid

BARAK OBAMA

Obama was born on the 4th August 1961 and hasn't died yet. He uses fear to control politics because of his power and how he is the leader of America who are at this stage and time the most powerful country in the world. If anyone tries to reject him or if anyone disagrees with him so strongly that they want to start a war they would lose so basically whatever he says is final. Also he has powerful allies such as Britain so if there is any country that can stand up to them it is Britain but fortunately for Obama they are friends so America can pretty much get the world to do what it says in everyday life and politics.

OSAMA BIN LADIN

Osama was born on the March 10 1957 and died on the May 2nd 2011. He was the son of a of a billionaire called Mohamed bin Awad in Saudi Arabia. Bin Ladin uses fear to control peoples opinion and politics in a very stupid way as he wants people to practically go against him. He claimed responsibility for 11 attacks in America as well as many more around the world and was the founder of the terrorist group Al Qaeda. He also help fund arms and medicine for Muslim countries when they were at war for example in Afghanistan. So in my opinion he was a mixed man. Dangerous and loving.

SIMILARITIES BETWEEN REAL LIFE POWER TACTICS AND NAPOLEONS POWER TACTICS.

I think the difference between Napoleons tactic and nowadays tactics are very small. I believe that they are very similar for example the dogs this is an example of fear and many people in the real life have used fear such as Bin Ladin with his power to bomb people so people will listen to what he says not out of respect but out of fear. Squealer every leader should either be a good spokesman or have one like squealer who convinces everyone to do what Napoleon says. In real life Obama is a very good speaker who convinced the majority of the united states to choose him as leader. This is why I think that there are a lot of similarities between how Napoleon uses power to control the animals and how leaders do it in real life.

ADOLF HITLER

Adolf Hitler was born on 20th March 1889 and died on the 30th March 1945. Adolf Hitler left WWI disillusioned and bitter. He felt the war had ended too soon and the Weimar Republic had sold Germany out by agreeing to the Treaty of Versailles. In 1919 he joined a small political party in Munich, known as the German Workers' Party. Before long he was its leader. He changed the party name to the National Socialist German Workers' Party (NSDAP). This became known as the Nazi party.

The Nazis were violently opposed to Communism. The Communists believed all private ownership of land and assets was theft. This led many landowners and businessmen to support the Nazis. Their social policies, such as better pensions and reducing unemployment, appealed to the common man and also many traditional socialists. The Nazis proclaimed that they would abolish the Treaty of Versailles, that they felt unfairly punished Germany. This was a popular policy for many Germans. After losing territories at Versailles, the Nazis wanted Lebensraum (living space) for their surplus population. Bluntly, they wanted more land.

JOSEPH STALIN

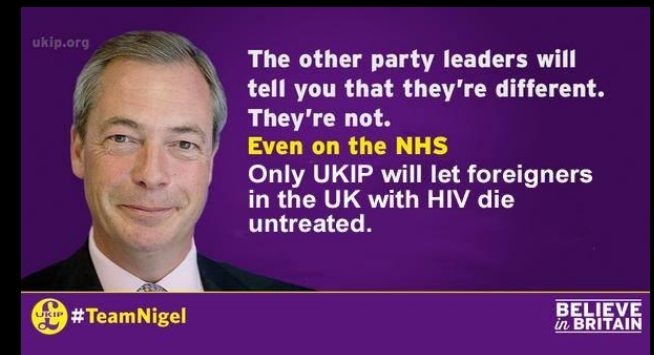

Joseph Stalin was born Josef Vissarionovich Djugashvili on December 18, 1878, or December 6, 1878, according to the Old Style Julian calendar (although he later invented a new birth date for himself: December 21, 1879), in the small town of Gori, Georgia, then part of the Russian empire.

The most famous aspect of Stalin's Russia was the Terror. This grew from his desire to be absolute autocrat, and was enforced via the NKVD and public 'show trials'. It developed into a centrally-enforced 'cult of Stalin-worship', and a terrifying system of labour camps - 'the gulag'.

NIGEL FARAGE

Nigel Paul Farage born 3 April 1964 is a British politician and former commodity broker. He is the leader of the UK independence party (UKIP), having held the position since November 2010, and previously from September 2006 to November 2009. Since 1999 he has been a member of the European parliament for South east London. He uses migration and immigration to control the politics because there are a lot of people who want Britain to be race free apart from white Christianity so by making his speeches deliberately on kicking other races out of the country he will get all of those peoples votes who think he is right. The bad part or the more stupid part is that the majority of people in England either are a different race or don't mind different races as they don't actually affect the area in any bad way.

HOW FEAR CAN BE USED

Fear can be used in the future as a tool to gain power in a lot of different ways. The main way is fear using weapons, this is because of how harmful they can be to the person mentally and physically and can be used against whole nations. As the saying goes "Sticks and Stones can break my bones but words can never hurt me". This indicates that if someone tries to use words and if they have a little bit of common sense they will not be affected by it, but if you use physical things against them that can cause pain to them and their loved ones they will pay attention to you and you will have them in your pocket.