Stalin's strikes FEARS

Joseph Stalin was born on the 18 December 1878 and died on 5 March 1953. At his time he and Hitler were the most ruthless leaders and still are in all time. He ruled with fear over Russia (Soviet Union at the time). A lot of people were scared of the things he will do to them or their families if they don't listen to him. The people who worked for him were more scared of him then they were of their enemies.

Their was a lot of evidence of him torturing his people as well. It didn't work, any more than similar actions work today. Instead, it encouraged dangerous short-term thinking, the forgery of statistics and blind obedience even to silly instructions. It was also bad for the country. Even though the Soviet Union enjoyed an amazing period of growth and development before 1941, the achievement was much less than it would have been without Stalin's management by fear and obsession with control.

Hitler's Horrible Moustache

Adolf Hitler was born on 20 April 1889 and died on 30 April 1945. Like Stalin he ruled by making his people and pretty much everyone else feared him. He led Germany into war and discriminated Jews. He believed that Germany should rule over any other country so he declared war on basically the three strongest countries in Europe and started WW2 but everyone knows how that ended.
